Lee Enterprises Reports Revenue Growth in July

August 15, 2005
DAVENPORT, lowa--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 15, 2005--Lee Enterprises, Incorporated (NYSE:LEE), today reported same property revenue increases in July, a result of improved sales and an additional Sunday compared with a year ago.

On a same property (3) basis, which excludes the impact of acquisitions and divestitures made in the current or prior year, total advertising revenue increased 10.7 percent and operating revenue increased 9.0 percent. Including the effect of acquisitions and divestitures, total advertising revenue increased 91.9 percent, and total operating revenue increased 83.4 percent, due primarily to the acquisition of Pulitzer Inc. in June 2005.

Same property retail advertising revenue increased 9.8 percent. Classified advertising revenue increased 9.9 percent, with employment up 29.5 percent, automotive down 2.8 percent, real estate up 20.5 percent, other newspaper classified categories down 3.1 percent, and classified in non-daily publications down 1.5 percent. National advertising revenue increased 23.7 percent. Niche publication revenue decreased 3.4 percent, a continuing influence of the loss of a large contracted publication in one market. Online advertising revenue, which is not affected by Sunday exchanges, increased 37.7 percent. Circulation revenue, which is affected by the additional Sunday this year, increased 4.6 percent.

The additional Sunday this year distorts a direct comparison with July 2004 because Sundays generate substantially more revenue than any other day of the week. Lee's revenue growth in July can be evaluated in a more meaningful way by considering it in combination with August results, as August has one fewer Sunday in 2005 than in 2004. Combined, July and August have nine Sundays in both 2005 and 2004. Lee's revenue statistics for August are scheduled to be released Sept. 15 and will include a table combining July and August results to eliminate the effect of the Sunday exchanges.

PULITZER RESULTS

Pulitzer results are reported in statistical periods, which eliminate the effect of Sunday exchanges. For the statistical reporting period ended July 31, 2005, on a same property basis, comparing the current year period to last year, which is before Lee's ownership, Pulitzer advertising revenue decreased 0.4 percent, with total revenue down 0.5 percent. In St. Louis, which was up against its most significant growth relative to the prior year, advertising revenue decreased 2.9 percent due to a soft market for both classified and national advertising, and total revenue was down 2.7 percent. In Pulitzer's other newspapers, on a same property basis, advertising revenue increased 5.4 percent, and total revenue rose 4.9 percent.

In the 50 percent partnership in Tucson, which is accounted for using the equity method and is not included in the Pulitzer revenue described above, advertising revenue for the July statistical reporting period increased 6.9 percent, and total revenue rose 5.5 percent. Strong retail and classified revenue growth offset a decline in national advertising.

Tables follow.
With the acquisition of Pulitzer, Lee owns 52 daily newspapers and a joint interest in six others. Lee also operates associated online services and more than 300 weekly newspapers, shoppers and classified and specialty publications. Lee is based in Davenport, lowa, and its stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol LEE. More information about Lee Enterprises is available at www.lee.net.
